Bat-..."Trump era: US immigration policy is changing" By Joel Hilliker 31 October 2017 The past week has seen an extraordinary display of naked and shameless political cowardice on the part of the Democratic Party and a bipartisan chorus of outrage against the Trump administration's immigration policy. In an egregious demonstration of the political class's inability to provide any effective challenge to Trump's racist, anti-working class policy, the Democratic Party has pretended nothing is amiss, and offered its "shock and horror" over the Trump administration's new anti-immigration measures and enforcement tactics as an attack on immigrants. The sham was put on full display when Democratic Senators, including Cory Booker of New Jersey and Kamala Harris of California, announced their intention to introduce legislation to eliminate the Trump administration's enforcement policies. Some Democrats even posed for cameras as they pleaded with reporters to not report on immigration policy, warning that "we cannot lose sight of the humanity of the undocumented." In the real world, however, such cosmetic gestures offer no protection from the enforcement measures and the attacks on immigrants coming from the Trump administration's policies and pronouncements. They are only an effort to paint the administration's racist and
