◆ Game information ① Story The game is a free online social game where players form parties of three and battle monsters in the Lands Between. In this world, magic is gradually declining. No one knows the reason for its decline. However, that is not enough for a great evil to live here. In a village, the most wanted person is a royal progenitor who is none other than Anka, the very progenitor of the Elden Ring. Anka is an Elden Lord who has been striving in vain for a few hundred years to restore the land to its previous state. Healers who use magic have been steadily declining since the era of the progenitor. As a result, a society where magic is a lifeline has grown. This has led to nothing but the rise of an evil which threatens to destroy everyone. You cannot say that this is just a different day in this age. The future of the world hinges on the defeat of this evil, and all players of the game will be playing a very important role in this. ◆ About the battles Battles that players of the game make use of their characters who control huge swords, small swords, and shields. This is the very first action RPG where players control three characters who can choose from several classes. Combining the effects of a wide variety of magic will enable you to conquer high-level foes. ◆ Action RPG that brims with excitement This is not your everyday fantasy action RPG where dungeons are to be explored. You can choose your battles to match your play style, such as learning various skills to defeat enemies using various weapons, or using various weapons to defeat enemies with a variety of skills. Q: How is the best way to reduce this JQuery code All I know from searching is the 1st code below was ment to be like this in jquery: `$(".testclass").css({ 'background' : 'url(www.abc.com/image.jpg)', 'width' : '300px' });` But I think that is very ugly coding. So I tried the 2nd code below. I didnt like the 2nd code so much either but am not sure how to get rid of the ugliness, any ideas? `$(".testclass").css({ 'background-image' : 'url(www.abc.com/image.jpg)', 'width' : '300px' });`

A: you could try : `$(".testclass").css({"background": "url(www.abc.com/image.jpg)", "width": "300px"});` A: If you want to have an object with background-image and width in it, you can do it this way: `$.extend({ "backgroundImage": { "backgroundImage": 'www.abc.com/image.jpg', "width": "300px" } }, { "testclass": $(".testclass") });` Or even shorter: `$.extend({ "testclass": $(".testclass") }, { "backgroundImage": { "backgroundImage": 'www.abc.com/image.jpg', "width": "300px" } });` Note that both "backgroundImage" and "width" should be present because this object gets created before the original object, and then its fields overridden. Now you can simply use `$.extend({}, {...})` to extend all instance of object for this type. UN Secretary-General
