An easy to use, solution to a common challenge, Smart Size! Liquid View is an easy to use utility that will save you a lot of time and effort! Unlike other applications that simply reduce the size of the tool boxes, menus, and application windows without changing the display resolution, Liquid View allows you to scale them independently of the application window. After creating your Liquid View profile you can set the size of all icons, menus, and application tools independent of the application window without changing the display resolution. With the touch of a button in the Liquid View interface the screen will immediately scale - it's that simple! When a user has a screen resolution of less than 1,280 pixels the Liquid View application appears normally and will not change the size of any controls. However when a user has a screen resolution of greater than 1,280 pixels, Liquid View automatically detects the new screen resolution and will automatically scale the icons, menus, and application controls to a new size. This new, larger size will allow icons, menus, and application tools to be read more easily, and images will appear more like photographs. Liquid View will maintain the original "best fit" when the Liquid View profile is closed. When the Liquid View profile is opened again, the screen will return to the original size. The Liquid View application does not change the application window or current desktop resolution. Liquid View changes the resolution of the icon, text, and application tools - it does not change the amount of information displayed. The full screen, application window and desktop remain unchanged. This is a unique feature that allows the mouse pointer to always remain in the center of the application window. With all the features Liquid View offers, the amount of information displayed on the screen will remain the same as with Windows 8. Transparent Background Support Users have wanted to resize icons, menus, application tools and desktop elements without changing their background color. Liquid View fixes this by completely removing the background pixels from the displayed image. Liquid View does not change the amount of information displayed, and the background color remains unchanged when a new view is selected. Transparency is the only way to see the background of the desktop. Maintains the original "best fit" when the Liquid View profile is closed Liquid View allows you to create a Liquid View profile that you can save for use at a later time. When you load the Liquid View profile again, all of the Liquid View settings will be restored automatically. Automatically resize icons and menus Liquid View also offers a "Scaling
