[CracksNow]Â .Lake Balaton (Austria) Lake Balaton () is a large salt lake in Central Europe. Situated in south-eastern Hungary and western Slovakia, it is the largest lake in the Southern Carpathians and the second largest lake in Europe after the Caspian Sea. Balaton means 'little lake' in Hungarian and Slovak. Geography Lake Balaton is one of the five inland lakes of the Great Hungarian Plain (Mátraï körzete), located in southeastern Hungary and western Slovakia. It has the longest axis of and its area is. The L15, L16 and L18 highways cross the northern part of the lake. The lake is bordered by the Mura Hills on the west, Ráckeve on the east and Kopács on the south. The northern part of the lake is landlocked and the southern part is part of the Danube River drainage basin. The central part of the lake (including the lake's centre) is used as a recreational area. Balaton is connected to Lake Velence with the Lake Balaton South Channel and to Lake Zala with the Lake Balaton North Channel. The southern part of the lake is connected to Lake Tatra via the River Homok by the Tihany
