Every Photographer needs to test and study their subject matter. The very first thing you want to focus on is the important aspects that you want to capture. Once that is in focus, use your camera controls to focus on the most important composition. Once the composition is thoroughly evaluated, it's time to consider the lighting, as well as build-up to the subject. Next, handle the color of the subject matter, including critical areas. If you are editing on a computer, it is a very good idea to use a tool like Photoshop to color correct and fix the colors.
